Bi-Party Budget Battle Renewed, Veto Is Promised

Lehman Tells Supporting Faction That Program Will Be Thrown Off Later by Veto

Hits Purpose

Governor Says Attempts Are 'Hocus Pocus' and Fanciful Hopes

Albany, N. Y., March 11 (AP)—New York's bi-party budget battle raged anew today as Republican legislators, assured by Governor Lehman their $391,795,943 fiscal program will be knocked out of balance by a veto, sought "taxless" revenue substitutes yielding more than $5,000,000. The houses meet again tonight.

The Democratic executive's report to the Republican majority's adoption of a 1940-41 "economy" budget, despite his sharp protest it was "hocus pocus" financing, forces re-solving of the entire financial problem created by the party's decision to drop a proposed $15,000,000 personal income tax boost.

Labelling the GOP revenue program a product of "fanciful hopes," the governor announced last night intention to veto a $250,000 appropriation to the state tax department by which Republicans hoped to raise $3,750,000 in collection of delinquent taxes.

He did not mention what action he would take on a measure which the Legislature expects to pass this week to bring $3,000,000 through collection of unclaimed insurance funds.

But his previous assertion the plan was based on "wishful thinking" and would not raise $250,000 left Republicans reconciled to a veto and the necessity of seeking another way of obtaining the necessary funds either by more cuts or a new revenue source.

Lehman also promised to veto a $500,000 appropriation permitting the state to pay costs of the New York city transit commission. The move was intended to compensate the city for loss of revenues resulting from budget cuts but the governor protested it would "permanently saddle the state" with local expenses.

His assurance of eliminating an appropriation of $45,000 for remodeling the Senate's air conditioning system made the veto savings total $795,000.

Would Hit Plan

Veto of the measure to raise $3,000,000 in unclaimed insurance funds, Republican leaders pointed out, would put the fiscal plan off by nearly $6,000,000. The budget estimates, however, provided for the approximate $1,000,000 surplus by July 1, 1941, and thus, about $5,000,000 revenue would be needed for a balance.

"We're not certain yet of what plan can be worked out," declared Republican Senate Majority Leader Joe R. Hanley. "But I'm positive of one thing. I never will vote for a cent of new taxes."

Assemblyman Abbott Low Moffat, Republican chairman of the ways and means committee which drafted the party's "economy" budget, asserted he is "confident" that, if necessary, "other revenue plans could be substituted" for those thrown out by Lehman's veto.

Other leaders insisted it is possible to revise portions of the vetoed bills without changing Republican aims, then turn the program over to the governor again and adjourn, thus forcing him to permit the program to become effective or call a special session of the Legislature.

Regrets Inability

The governor said he regretted inability to veto enactment of a $1,850,000 slash in state aid for education, a $3,000,000 cut in home relief and measures empowering the state to retain $4,000,000 of bank, real estate brokers and billiard taxes now shared with localities.

"I would certainly veto this bookkeeping manipulation," he said of the reduced home relief appropriation. "It is not cut at all. A deficit is created which will have to be made up by the state in the form of added appropriations next year."

Under the state constitution, all appropriation bills originally submitted by the governor shall become law upon passage by the Legislature, whether reduced or not. New or increased appropriations, however, must have the governor's approval to become effective.

The state's withholding of some locally-shared levies was termed "in no sense a saving," and the effort to collect $3,750,000 in tax arrears a "dishonest revenue estimate."

The governor again urged the majority to cut appropriations by

Had Two Teeth at Birth

Robert James Hart, with the help of his mother, Mrs. Jerry F. Hart, 107 Gage street, proudly displays his first baby teeth, which he has had since birth five weeks ago. Twin sister, Barbara Ann, who did not have the same good fortune of her brother, seemed rather bored with it all and slept while Robert had his teeth photographed. According to family physician, Dr. Emil S. Goodyear, it is very rare to find a baby born with any teeth.

Holy Name Hears Good Example Test Stressed by Judge

Group at Local Breakfast Is Told by Judge Conger That Exemplary Life Is Aid to Youth

Advocating a program of religious education to build up a respect for God and country, Judge E. A. Conger, U. S. District Judge, Southern District of New York, told 225 members of the St. Joseph's Holy Name Society at their annual communion breakfast at the Governor Clinton Hotel Sunday morning, that "bad company" was one of the things which brings American youth to the courts and starts them out on a career of crime.

"Religious instructions for youths and the practice of the principles of Christian education are the best methods of eliminating crime," said Judge Conger, who has served as city judge of Poughkeepsie, assistant district attorney, district attorney of Dutchess county and as a U. S. district judge.

Pointing out the responsibility of parents to see that their children get a good sound religious foundation to start out with in life, he said that much of the crime of our land was born on the street corners, pool rooms and bad company. To keep the young boys from such temptations he said, was to keep them away from the ways of crime. One of the best possible means of starting a youth out on the right path was the Boy Scout movement, he declared.

Cites Influence

The power of 200 or 300 men in a community leading a Christian life, banded together such as are the members of the Holy Name Society, he said, could exert a tremendous influence on the community and the said such men banded together make for better citizenship and for patriotism.

"There can be no divided allegiance. We are Catholics and Americans and the better Catholics we are the better Americans we are."

Central Part of State Digs Out After Heavy Week-End Snow; One Person Dies

Albany, N. Y., March 11 (AP)—Central New York shoveled away today week-end snow which filled highways, forced an airplane bearing medicine to a sick Corning girl to detour and caused one fatality and several minor accidents.

Syracuse reported main roads open and some secondary routes closed by drifts after snow fell most of yesterday. Rochester area roads were open but state police termed them "dangerous" and advised no travel unless necessary. Ten persons were injured in storm-created accidents in this section.

Highway crews were hard pressed yesterday to keep main roads free of drifts in parts of Cattaraugus, Allegany, Wyoming, Steuben and Livingston counties. Route 7, between Cobleskill and Duaneburg in eastern New York was blocked awhile, but police restored one-way traffic last night.

High winds, prevailing across the state, drifted accumulated snow over Clinton- and Otsego county highways, where no new

Dayton Murray Is Dead at Home; Was Secretary of Bank

Father of Cleon B. Murray, Former District Attorney Succumbs After Week of Critical Illness

Dayton Murray, secretary of the Rondout Savings Bank for the past 30 years, died Sunday evening at his home, 60 Abrun street. Mr. Murray's death followed an illness of little more than a week. He was the father of former District Attorney Cleon B. Murray, of Ellenville.

A native of Dolgeville, where he was born on October 3, 1856, Mr. Murray came to this city as a young man and had resided here ever since. He was educated at the Fairfield, N. Y., Seminary and at Utica Business College.

Prior to his banking career Mr. Murray was engaged for many years in the grocery business at Union and Gill streets. During the term of Walter P. Crane as mayor of Kingston in 1908-1909, Mr. Murray served as city clerk.

Elting and Culloton Are Ill in Hospital

Philip Elting, Republican leader in Ulster county, and Judge Bernard A. Culloton, Ulster Democratic leader, are patients in the Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. Elting is being treated for an attack of neuritis in the arms and hands, while Judge Culloton is suffering from an attack of bronchial pneumonia. Their condition today was reported as somewhat improved.

Both Mr. Elting and Judge Culloton are widely known, not only for their political activities but for their activities in the civic and social life of Kingston and Ulster county.

Question of Taxes Is Discussed at Joint Conference

F.D.R. Meets With Group at White House; Levies Would Be Given to Swell Farm Measure

Garner Attends

Vice President Is Present; Barkley Announces No Decision

Washington, March 11 (AP)—The question of additional taxes to finance enlarged benefits for farmers was discussed at a White House conference today between President Roosevelt and congressional leaders.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the majority leader, said the question came up "in a general way" at the regular Monday morning parley of Senate and House leaders at the White House.

No decisions were made, Barkley added.

The Senate leader said he felt confident the House would approve the $309,793,584 addition made to the agriculture appropriation bill by the Senate appropriations committee. Offsetting previous appropriation economies, the increase boosted the farm fund to about the billion dollar level.

(Barkley's reply apparently presupposed Senate approval of the increase.)

The President repeatedly has reminded Congress that any appropriations for farm payments beyond his budget should be accompanied by extra revenue. Barkley said today, however, that there probably would be no decision on the tax question until March 15 income tax returns were in.

Attending the White House conference today, in addition to Barkley, were Vice-President Garner, Speaker Bankhead and House Majority Leader Rayburn.

Announces Topics

Barkley said that the discussion also touched on such items as the Hatch politics bill, the National Labor Board inquiry and other congressional problems, but declined to give details.

At the Capitol, the Senate appeared ready to lay aside its squabble over the Hatch bill in order to take up the big farm appropriation bill.

The swap was a prelude to one of the busiest weeks of the congressional session. In two or three days the Senate will debate extension of the reciprocal trade program, and the House will consider tomorrow the $655,000,000 naval expansion bill.

An armistice on the Hatch act fight was proposed Saturday after senators who want to broaden the law's provisions declared that opponents were filibustering. The question is whether state employees paid in part by federal funds should be barred from political activity, as are federal workers.

Foes Jubilant

Foes of the extension—a sizable bloc of Democrats—were jubilant over the delay, but Senator Hatch (D-N. M.) expressed confidence that the debate would be resumed after the Senate disposes of the farm and trade bills.

Republicans, who have kept silent during the battle between two Democratic factions, promised to support Hatch in demanding ultimate action.

The farm fight appeared a little more one-sided than the Hatch controversy, with economy advocates acknowledging that they had little chance of victory. Their only hope, they said, is that the House will refuse to agree to any Senate increases.

The House-approved farm bill was increased $309,193,584 by the Senate appropriations committee, which added $212,000,000 for parity payments and recommended $100,000,000 for agricultural loans.

The measure now is $201,940,049 in excess of President Roosevelt's budget estimate. He did not include any money for parity payments.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 11 (AP)—The position of the treasury March 8: Receipts, $16,185,761.33. Expenditures, $23,392,503.46. Net balance, $2,327,963,050.62. Excess of expenditures, $2,710,948,685.22. Gross debt, $42,390,002,866.26. Increase over previous day, $3,294,537.47. Gold assets, $18,237,196,643.54.

British Skeptical About Welles' Visit

Nation Friendly, However; Says Only That Future Visibility Is Poor

London, March 11 (AP)—In an atmosphere that was friendly but unmistakably skeptical, Sumner Welles today explored Great Britain's official attitude on war and peace aims in talks with national leaders.

The United States undersecretary of state disclosed that the memorandum made public in Paris outlining American desires for free world trade and a riddance of fear in the peace to come after the European war, had been given to other governments he had visited.

Welles reiterated that he had brought no proposals of any kind to Europe and, refusing to express views on anything—even the appearance of London—he repeated that his report was for President Roosevelt only.

He said he expected to see Premier Mussolini and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano when he returns to Rome on his way to the United States but does not plan to visit Ireland or revisit Germany. He is to leave Rome, by way of Paris, Thursday.

A private audience with King George VI at Buckingham Palace was the first item on the itinerary of the second busy day President Roosevelt's personal investigator spent in the British capital. Formal talks with Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax were to follow.

Discussing the possible results of the conferences, the London press was polite but frank. Their comment was summed up by the Daily Mail:

"The visibility was decidedly poor and glimpses even of the immediate future are apt to be misleading."

Tonight, Lord Halifax will entertain the American undersecretary of state at dinner. Tomorrow, he will lunch with Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, and dine with Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty. Wednesday, Chamberlain will entertain Welles at dinner.

Each occasion will be restricted to a small group of "representative Englishmen" to avoid any confusion in making clear the British position on war and peace.

For instance, Chamberlain was expected merely to re-emphasize what Halifax already told Welles yesterday, shortly after his arrival from Paris. "The security for which Britain went to war," Halifax was authoritatively reported to have told Welles, is still the keystone of her war aims and to achieve that, there would have to be a German government which could be "trusted to keep its word."

Final Plans Made For Blossom Fete At Local Meeting

Queen Will Be Selected During Parade and Her Name Will Be Given Following Pageant

Final plans for the Hudson Valley Apple Blossom Festival were completed at a meeting of the executive committee at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston Saturday afternoon. Henry R. Bright, general chairman of the festival, presided at the meeting attended by committee chairmen.

Participation of Dutchess, Orange, Rockland and Ulster counties was assured by their representatives and several others have indicated a definite interest, although it was impossible for their delegates to be present Saturday. According to Mr. Bright, at least 10 counties will participate. No definite word has been received from two others. Plans were proposed by the various committee chairmen and after thorough discussion approved by the executive committee.

Final Contest

Each participating county will choose a queen on or before May 4 to compete in the final contest of May 11 in Kingston. All contestants must be unmarried, more than 15 and under 21 years of age, and must be legal residents of the counties represented. Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, chairman of the queen selection committee, and her committee, are already working on the selection of an outstanding board of judges. The girls will be judged for personality, attractiveness, poise and figure. The costume or dress will not be judged. The girls are expected to appear before the judges informally at 10:30 in the forenoon, meet again at a special luncheon and finally they will be judged while riding on their county float in the parade. The winner or "Hudson Valley Apple Blossom Queen" will not be announced until the end of the festival.

Seventeen-year-old Elizabeth, a cousin of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, has been spending her winters at the White House while attending Miss Madeira's school on the banks of the Potomac in Virginia as a day pupil. Her home is in Stamford, Conn.

Garner's Pals Say He Has Put All Cards On Table and Will Watch What Happens

Washington, March 11 (AP)—Vice President Garner has laid all his cards on the table for the presidential primaries, friends said today, and now will be content to sit back and watch results.

Garner, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, has entered the April primaries in Illinois and Wisconsin and the Oregon and California races in May.

He approved a slate of California delegates pledged to him Saturday night, telegraphing his California leaders that his candidacy "is in the hands of the people" for decision either at the Democratic convention or at the November election.

Some of Garner's associates interpreted the statement as an indirect suggestion that President Roosevelt, if he wants a third term, also should give the people a chance to vote directly on his candidacy in the primaries.

Even though the President has given no indication as to whether he will run again, delegates pledged to Mr. Roosevelt will be running against the Garner ticket in most primaries where the vice president is entered.

Immediate political interest centered on New Hampshire, where the first 1940 presidential primary will be held tomorrow.

The bulk of a slate pledged to Mr. Roosevelt was unopposed on the Democratic ticket.

Most of the Republican candidates are unpledged but are expected to support the "favorite son" candidacy of Senator Bridges (R., N. H.). One candidate for a district delegate's post is pledged to Thomas E. Dewey, although the latter asked him to withdraw.

Senate Democrats in touch with Postmaster General Farley reported, meanwhile, that he had little to say regarding his candidacy for the presidential nomination.

Although it was reported in some quarters that Farley would delay any forthright declaration of his intentions until the President makes known his third term views,

Four Finns In Moscow For Parley

Soviet Radio and Press Attacks Upon Rulers at Helsinki Indicate No Peace

Admits Losses

Finland Says Red Troops Gain New Advantages at Viipuri

(By The Associated Press)

Peace talk, puzzling in its contradictions, was warring Europe's main topic today though secrecy, censorship and rumors kept peace prospects an unknown quantity in the war equation.

This much was certain: Four representatives of Finland, headed by Premier Risto Ryti, have been in Moscow negotiating for peace with the Kremlin.

The outcome of their mission still hung in the balance.

Finland said that the peace talks were initiated through the mediation of Sweden, but that no decision had been made on Russia's demands which were an official secret.

Stockholm reports indicated the Finns were returning today with the Russian terms for ending the bloody northern conflict which has disturbed Europe since the Red army struck November 30 at the Finnish frontier.

Radio, Press Attacks

New Russian radio and press attacks against the Helsinki government aroused apprehension that the peace talks had been fruitless, but the Scandinavian nations, anxious for peace in fear they would become involved in the conflict, maintained hope that a peaceful settlement could be reached.

Russian censorship prevented direct reports from Moscow on the peace negotiations.

The two principals spoke chiefly of military developments in fighting that continued despite peace efforts. Russia announced further progress in flanking Finland's Mannerheim defense line and Finland acknowledged the Red army had gained new footholds on the shore of Viipuri Bay for a rear thrust at the city of Viipuri.

More parts of the Finnish-Russian picture were pieced together from other European capitals.

Full Aid Promised

Great Britain and France have informed Finland that they are ready "to proceed immediately and jointly to the help of Finland" with "all available resources" if the Finnish government should ask for "further aid." Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today.

Later a statement from his office said that "the prime minister desires to make it clear that no appeal for further aid has yet been received from the Finnish government."

It was disclosed in London that Britain had refused to transmit Russian peace terms to Finland, calling them "onerous." Moscow was said to be making demands that include surrender of the Karelian Isthmus, Lake Ladoga, Viipuri, certain gulf islands and some northern territory in addition to a long lease on Hanko Peninsula for a naval base.

A former president of Finland, Pehr Evind Svinhufvud, visited the Berlin foreign office on an undisclosed mission. He was reported to have inquired about an audience with Adolf Hitler.

Might Ask Guarantee

There was talk, denied officially, that an effort might be made to obtain a German-Italian guarantee for Finland if some settlement is reached with Russia.

Germany's foreign minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, called on Pope Pius and King Vittorio Emanuele during a Rome visit for talks with Premier Mussolini.

It was believed Von Ribbentrop might be sounding out Il Duce on Italy's position regarding possible developments in the European wars and regarding Finland. His call on the Pope apparently was a move for improving Vatican-German relations.

With the tempo of diplomatic developments increasing, President Roosevelt's fact-finder, Sumner Welles, conferred with British leaders on the fourth major stop of his European swing to get a fresh view of the war scene.

Returns Home

Arthur T. Merrill, who suffered a stroke a week ago and has been under treatment at the Kingston Hospital, was discharged Sunday and returned to his home on East St. James street.

Schirick Rules Against Certification of Delegates

At Albany today Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick of Kingston ruled today against certification of two delegates and their alternates to the Democratic national convention from the 24th congressional district pending a hearing next Monday, the Associated Press reports. The judge ordered Secretary of State Michael F. Walsh to refuse to certify Thomas J. Miller and Emilie Cavanagh as delegates and Howard Higg and Joseph V. Ruhiho as alternates from the district, embracing New York city and Westchester county. All are New York city residents.

The temporary ruling is another step in a fight that started when George E. Macy of the Bronx brought action against the secretary of state to invalidate the petitions.

Macy claims only 542 of the names on petitions designating the four men are valid. The law requires 750 valid signatures.

Justice Schirick said he would hear arguments next Monday at 11 a. m.

War and Politics Are Chief Topics

With war orders beginning to enter the field of performance and with little immediate change looked for in general business news war and politics chiefly occupy the attention of Wall Street just now.

Little further recession in business is anticipated, it appears, but whether there will be an advance, and if so how much is a question. Also open to question is the final action Congress will take on a number of matters closely related to business improvement.

Thus, while the House has shown signs, even though belated, of a tendency to consider who ultimately will "pay the piper" after the spending orgy of recent years, there is considerable question as to whether the Senate will stay with it in its attempt to reduce expenditures and make unnecessary new tax levies. The House lopped off $600,000,000 from the farm benefits scheme but already a Senate sub-committee has voted to add $297,000,000 to the bill passed by the House. If the upper house takes the same attitude toward other expenditures the hopes of dawn economy will doubtless go glimmering.

Outside of a bit of a spurt on Wednesday the stock market last week maintained its cautious course, with changes negligible. Industrials in the Dow-Jones averages, however, showed slight gains each day, with one exception and Saturday's close, up .07, made a net gain for the week of 1.81 points to 148.14. Rails were up .03 Saturday, but gained .43 point for the week, to close at 30.84. Utilities also had a net gain of .13 point, closing Saturday unchanged at 24.24. Total transactions for the week were 3,652,811 shares, the highest day being 855,630.

There was activity in Packard Saturday and the stock advanced to 3 1/2 with 28,000 shares changing hands. The company recently accepted an order to build 2,000,000 worth of super-marine engines for the government.

The commodity index closed the week with a slight loss, but was up about a point for the week as a whole. With private crop reports not too favorable wheat regained most of the ground lost in the preceding week. It rallied sharply Saturday for gains of as much as 1 1/2 cents a bushel.

Climax Molybdenum shows sharp increase in earnings in 1939. Net for the year was $10,309,586, about $4.09 a share compared with net in the preceding year of $7,872,141, or $3.12 a share. Container Corp. also reports a much better showing, net for 1939 being $1,448,900 equal to $1.85 a share, compared with $29,470, or four cents a share in the preceding year. Phelps Dodge Corp.'s net of $12,278,601 in 1939, equal to $2.42 a share compares with net of $1.71 a share in 1938.

Crucible Steel turned a net loss of $2,237,026 in 1938 into net income in 1939 of $2,803,546, equal to $11.74 a preferred share. Chairman Hufnagel said that there had been a falling off in incoming order, not unexpected because of the abnormal volume of business booked from September to November. He said that there are reasons for believing that the steel industry would suffer no serious setback in the near future.

The auto business continues to make a good showing. Estimates of the A.M.A. show that factory sales of passenger cars and trucks in February totaled 421,690 units, a gain of 32.8 per cent of the same month last year and the best February recorded with the exception of February 1929.

Two Are Injured As Car Overturns

A car operated by Fred Reid, Jr., of Elizabeth, N. J., skidded about 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning on an icy turn a half mile south of the Mid-Hudson bridge circle at Highland and overturned. Two occupants of the car were injured.

In the accident Mildred Royce of Cranford, N. J., suffered injuries to her back and neck and Catherine Soderstrom of Metuchen, N. J., suffered lacerations and abrasions about the face and a contusion of the knee. The injured people were attended by Dr. Carl F. Meekins of Highland.

In the car and uninjured were also Winifred Anderson of Metuchen, N. J., and Julius Selsky of Hackensack, N. J. Sergeant E. J. Hulse and Trooper Benson investigated the accident. The vehicle was proceeding northerly at the time.

New York, March 11 (AP)—

Despite quiet strength in selected aircrafts and specialties, leading stocks were unable to work up much rising steam in today's market.

Trends were indefinite from the start and price changes were moderately mixed near the final hour. Dealings slowed from the opening on. Transfers were at the rate of approximately 600,000 shares.

Hopes that an end of the industrial retreat was in sight, together with brightening prospects for individual companies, helped attract selective support, brokers said, but many traders preferred to keep decks clear pending outcome of the Russian-Finnish peace negotiations.

Bonds and commodities were a shade irregular, as were the principal foreign securities markets. Stocks pushed up at Copenhagen on reports peace was in the offing.

Sluggish were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Westinghouse, du Pont, Goodyear, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge and North American.

Resistant in the curb were Lake Shore, Electric Bond & Share and National Oil products.

Spit-Cat-Spit down mountain run at Phenicia was the scene of a very interesting slalom race Sunday when 62 entrants, representing five ski clubs of northern New Jersey held the New Jersey Inter-Club Slalom Races on a section of the trail.

The race brought to the locality some of the most expert skiers of the metropolitan area including an entrant and winner of the women's division, Mrs. Helen McAlpine, nee Helen Boughton-Leigh and member of the 1936 Olympic women's ski team.

Ray Bloomqvist, well known Norwegian skiing authority, acted as course setter for the day and officiated at the meet which was run off for possession of the Bamberger Trophy, a very handsome silver cup which is in competition for three years for permanent possession.

The trail had been reserved last week for the competition of the New Jersey clubs but it was not known at the time of the importance of the meet until the skiers began to arrive Sunday for the meet. Lloyd F. Kinsey this morning said the meet had been one of the best of the year in the area with 62 entrants, representing five member clubs.

The Snow Chasers of Morris-town, N. J., were high point winners and took possession of the trophy which must be won three years for permanent possession. Second was Montclair Ski Club and there was a tie for third place with Metuchen and Plainfield Clubs. The individual winners were Stuart Gillespie with a time of 48:5; Lee Query with a time of 51:2 and Arne Kirbach with a time of 53.

A section of Spit-Cat-Spit down mountain run was marked off and used for the slalom races.

In the women's races Helen McAlpine was first, Mrs. Martin, second, and Dorothy Blanchard, third. Seven women were entered in the event.

John McGrath of Phenicia, running his second year on skis, was the fore-runner of the day and his time for the course, while not entered in the competition, was his fastest of the day.

At the Simpson Memorial ski slope there was also a big week-end. The Friday night train brought a good crowd of winter sport followers and on Sunday the snow train brought over 400 more skiers. The total attendance was one of the largest of the year. The slope was fast and as the temperature dropped Sunday afternoon the course became faster until only the most expert were able to negotiate it. Sunday afternoon the temperature dropped to 12 above zero with a high wind blowing. The ski tows continued to operate through the week-end.

Plans for skiing are being made for next Sunday and weather permitting the snow trains will again run.

Craft's to Sponsor New Cook School

The second annual cooking school sponsored by Craft's Super Market, Inc., will open sessions tomorrow at 1:30 o'clock in the auditorium over Craft's market on O'Neil street. The school this year is under the personal direction of Mrs. Bertha M. Harris, nationally known lecturer and home economist, who has been heard in cooking school sessions from coast to coast for the past 20 years.

Mrs. Harris is a graduate home economist of the University of Chicago, served as home economist with the General Electric Company of Chicago for five years, was director of home economics for the Corn Products Refining Co. for eight years, and has conducted large newspaper cooking schools in the mid-west. She is the author of many newspaper and magazine articles, and is a member of the American Home Economics Association and the Illinois Women's Press Association.

Menus for the cooking school are based on a budget for women of moderate income, and each program will be entirely different from the preceding day. During the course of the school every phase of cooking will be discussed and plans will be made for complete daily meals specializing on one particular dish.

The success of last year's cooking school with an average daily attendance of approximately 300, prompted the cooking school for this year. R. E. Craft, manager of the Craft Super Market, Inc., said this morning that facilities were available to accommodate several hundred women, including ample parking space for automobiles.

The sessions of the school are open to all women who would care to attend—"the invitation is extended to all women," said R. E. Craft—and the schedule for the school includes sessions from Tuesday through Friday of this week, and Monday through Thursday for the following three weeks.

Marcus Obtains Show Cause Order

An order to show cause was secured Saturday by Allen Goodwin, attorney for Paul Marcus of Woodstock, which will bring the American Labor Party controversy before the Supreme Court Wednesday at 11 o'clock in an effort to determine the validity of the Marcus petition which has been filed with the board of elections.

The order returnable before Justice Schirick is one directed to the board of elections why the "progressive" petition filed with the board should not be accepted. This is the second step in the battle between two rival factions in American Labor Party in a battle to determine which one shall be represented on the spring primary ballot. Marcus leads one faction and Jacob J. Schneider the other faction.

The first step came last Friday when the two factions aired their differences before the board of elections. Allegations of irregularities in each other's petitions were made. A second hearing before the board of elections was scheduled for Tuesday but this may be postponed pending determination of the matter now before the supreme court.

Highland Chicken House Destroyed

A two-story chicken house and brooder house were destroyed last evening about 10 o'clock on the Ralph Tortorella property on the North Road at Highland. Loss was estimated at $800. In the brooder house 200 baby chicks were burned but fowls in the coop were saved.

The fire was discovered by Louis Smith, Jr., of Highland, who aroused Tortorella and Highland firemen

Car Overturns

A car driven by Dr. Martin M. Schor of 301 East 82nd street, New York, skidded on ice at the bottom of the Port Ewen Cemetery hill about 12:30 Sunday morning and struck a snow bank, where it overturned. Deputy McCullough, who investigated, reported that Dr. Schor was not injured.

The Finger Lakes are extremely deep. Cayuga (435 feet) and Seneca (618 feet) have their deepest areas below sea level. The average depth of all the lakes is 130 feet.

Hitler Visits Wounded Nazis

Adolf Hitler (right), with arms folded, visits wounded Reich soldiers in Berlin in celebrating Germany's Memorial Day. He chose the occasion to sound a war cry of "on to victory" in the conflict he charged had been forced on Germany by "Imperialist England and France." Picture radioed from Berlin to New York.

coal to Norway are in no case to be attacked, and the cargoes of all ships not moving under convoy, if they "comply with international law," will be checked before any action is taken against them.

The newspaper said that orders to this effect already had been sent to all German submarine commanders. The German promise was said to have been given to the Halvorsen, one of Norway's leading shipping men and former president of the Norwegian Shipowners' Association, when he visited Berlin recently to negotiate with the admiralty on behalf of the association.

The opinion here is that Germany's move was prompted by strained relations with Norway over recent numerous sinkings of Norwegian ships.

Germany previously had warned neutrals that she regarded as fair prey all ships touching at British ports, even though merely diverted by British contraband control authorities.

Neutrals also had been warned that all ships traveling in convoy, and all vessels moving without lights or otherwise seeking to hide their movements, would be subject to attack.

Glenford Building Destroyed by Fire

Fire, which is believed to have been caused by a spark from the chimney, destroyed a bungalow owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Miller, at Glenford, shortly after 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Miller, with the assistance of two neighbors, Harold Grumme and Howard Hopkins, removed a large part of the furnishings.

The fire broke out on the roof, leading to the belief that a spark from the chimney was fanned into flame by the high wind. The Woodstock Fire Department answered the call for help and extinguished the blaze, but only after the interior of the frame dwelling had been ruined. An ample supply of water was obtained from one of the Sherman Lennox reservoirs from which water is piped to the surrounding homes.

The Miller home and furnishings were fully covered by insurance, it is stated.

Proprietor of Inn Held for Assault

As a result of what is said to have been a family argument at Fisher's restaurant, intersection of Route 28 and the Zena road, Saturday afternoon, John Fisher, proprietor, was arrested by Trooper Reilly on a charge of assault, third degree. He was charged with having beaten up his aged, crippled father, Stephen Fisher.

Arraigned before Justice Daniel Lynch of Zena, he furnished $20 bail for appearance at 2 o'clock today. The sheriff's office was notified of the affair and Deputies Vredenburg and Winne also answered the call.

The sheriff received notice of further trouble at the restaurant at 12:50 o'clock Sunday morning, and Deputies Vredenburg, McCullough and Winne responded. They found that there had been a fight in which Lincoln Fisher, of Kingston, a brother of John, was alleged to have assaulted the latter because of the affair Saturday afternoon.

Two assault charges were lodged against him, one by his brother and another by Aramatha France, a waitress at the restaurant. Lincoln also was held under $20 bail to answer to a third degree assault charge before Justice Lynch at 2:30 o'clock today.

the coronation pageant, when she will be crowned, with an appropriate ceremony.

Parade and Pageant

The parade and coronation pageant will be two of the featured events. The parade will start on Broadway in Kingston, at 2 o'clock and end at the municipal stadium, where the pageant and coronation will take place, starting at 3 p. m. Each county has agreed to provide a county float for their queen and her attendants to ride upon. Every effort will be made to have bands enter the parade and compete for cash awards. The county floats will also be judged and cash awards given. Howard B. Hoffman, director of music at the New Paltz Normal School, and his committee, will have the rules and regulations for the band competition ready in the near future. Information on the judging of floats will be sent out by Ray A. Elmendorf, of Hurley, chairman of the committee. Only three classes of floats can enter the parade, namely: (1) county; (2) promotional, historical or educational floats by municipalities, educational, civic or promotional groups; and (3) commercial floats. The commercial floats will however be limited to large attractive floats, adequately decorated.

C. C. DuMond of Ulster Park, reported much progress for his committee on guests. Honorable James M. Mead, United States Senator from Buffalo, Lewis K. Rockefeller and Hamilton Fish, both members of congress, have accepted invitations to attend the festival on May 11. At this early date it was impossible to report definitely on five other distinguished guests who have been invited. The list of honorable co-chairmen, reported by Mr. Bright, is also only partially complete, but it now contains the names of Mrs. Alton B. Parker, E. Roland Harriman, Judge F. Walter Bliss and Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck.

Art Exhibit

Carl Eric Lindin of Woodstock reported that plans are underway for an art exhibit in the art gallery in Woodstock during the week of May 4 to 12, as a part of the festival program. Miss Idella Hyde, representing the Wiltwyck Chapter of the D.A.R., reported that the chapter house in Kingston would be open for visitors on May 11 and there is a possibility that plans will be developed to have open house at some of the historic stone houses.

Pie Baking Contest

The Ulster County Home Bureau will sponsor an apple pie baking contest in connection with the festival. Each county will be asked to select a county champion and the final contest will take place on the morning of May 11, when a Hudson valley apple pie baking champion will be selected and honored. Miss Everice Parsons, home demonstration agent of Ulster county, will announce the rules of the contest in the near future.

Gardiner Burns, Boy Scout executive of the Ulster-Greene Council, and his committee will work out plans to celebrate Rural Life Sunday on May 12 as a part of the festival. Mrs. William Denby of Highland, chairman of the coronation pageant committee, could not be present, but her plans for the pageant were approved.

In addition to those mentioned above the following were also present at the meeting on Saturday: Charles Evans of Highland Mills, vice chairman of the festival; Albert Kurdt of Kingston, secretary; Howard A. Lewis, a member of the advisory committee; Murray Thompson of Valley Cottage, chairman for Rockland county; John W. Thew of Campbell Hall, chairman for Orange county; A. L. Shepherd and A. T. Williams, representing Dutchess county, and Pratt Boies of Kingston, president of the Ulster County 4-H Clubs of the Kingston Kiwanis Club.

E. H. Remmert, of the National Ulster County Bank in Kingston, is treasurer of the festival, but was out of town and could not attend the meeting. Mr. Bright reported that each county would only be expected to finance their own participation in the festival and that the Ulster county committee would underwrite the other expenses.

Plans are also underway for a small folder announcing the festival. Each participating county will be represented by a picture, selected by the county committee. The folders will be available by April 10 and will be supplied at cost for general distribution by mailing with other correspondence or circulars. They will be an invitation to attend the festival.

CENSUS QUESTIONS

It is natural that people accustomed to independence and privacy should kick about having so many questions asked them as there are said to be in the new federal census questionnaire. From all accounts, the ordinary householder is going to be questioned as thoroughly, by as insistent a questioner, as if he were asking for a bank loan or buying a washing machine or oil burner on the installment plan. The government is certainly getting inquisitive.

This present quest for information is of an intimate nature and violent protests are being made against this federal government snooping. People's memories are short but don't let your good American sense of the ridiculous prompt you to reply with more or less facetious answers. The law provides penalties of fine and imprisonment for either refusal to answer these questions, or for giving false information. The government evidently has the right to ask any questions and compel an answer under the penalty of a prison sentence.

No citizen of the United States will object to answering questions in the interest of scientific fact finding, the analyses of which will provide comprehensive information for both government and business. But there is a limit to the acquiescence of people on answering questions pertaining to their private business.

Census officials familiar with the average citizen's dislike of snooping are banking on the ironclad secrecy of individual returns to obviate any pronounced public resistance. But what about the person who lives in the same neighborhood and comes into his neighbor's home and demands to know how much money he has made and the mortgage status on his home, its physical condition and what conveniences are available, and so on?

WARM ARCTIC

Cheer up. The world is getting warmer. And the explorer Donald B. MacMillan, who has looked things over up north, says it's going to continue warming up for 40,000 years. It's cold there now because we're just about half way through a great ice age.

There was a time, in fact there were probably several times, when the whole northern part of the United States was frozen up and covered with an ice sheet a mile or two high. That sheet has now retreated to Greenland, which is a big glacier covering 500,000 square miles and shedding 500,000,000,000 cubic feet of ice a year into the sea. That's where our North Atlantic icebergs come from. It will be pleasant to think of next summer.

Eventually MacMillan says, that vast ice-house will all be melted away and the whole north will be warm and pleasant. And then the Canadians will be in luck. They'll have a livable climate clear up to the Arctic Ocean, and they can mine coal veins 25 feet thick within 600 miles of the North Pole, laid down long ago when tropical vegetation grew there luxuriantly.

It will be grand for those who can hold out long enough.

FLIGHT TO AMERICA

The flight of the great liner Queen Elizabeth to America, to join two other queens of the ocean already here, is a symbol of what is happening on a huge scale.

There has been a great flight of money to America, starting long before the formal beginning of this war. Much of the money now chocking American banks consists of European funds in cold storage, for protection and for use in a time of greater need.

There is also a vast flight of people, in so far as that is possible to accomplish. American doors are opened to Europeans only a small crack at a time, so that the full pressure behind the influx is hardly appreciated. But the applications for admission, especially from Central European regions, are already so numerous that it would take a decade or two to let them in at the current rate of acceptance. And if Uncle Sam were to hang out a "Welcome" sign in the old pre-war way, there would be millions pouring in.

The most acceptable part of this movement has been the influx of foreign scholars, scientists, philosophers, authors and eminent professional people. These enrich American life and go far toward making up for the disadvantages we suffer from other war effects.

If this mail-seizure business spreads, a fellow will have a wonderful excuse for not writing letters.

Maybe there should be a world tribunal to decide which are the "superior" people and which the "inferior."

A reader asks whether the census is meant to incense us. We wouldn't know.

Britannia still rules the waves by waiving the rules.

Too late, all the other democracies might wish they had stood by Finland.

The sit-down war shows signs of sitting up.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
 NOISE DAMAGES NERVOUS SYSTEM

Now that flying has become such a part of everyday business life, it is bringing a health problem that must be overcome. I refer to the ill effects on the hearing made by the noise of the engines.

Noise is not just a nuisance, noise definitely harms not only the hearing but the whole nervous system.

I have had but one airplane flight and that was under favorable circumstances—an air trip from London to Paris at midday in bright sunshine. Yet until the noise of the engines becomes less I am not expecting to take another air trip, unless an emergency arises. For days afterwards I could hear the roar of the airplane engines.

That the noise of the airplane engines definitely injures the hearing is reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association by some British investigators. Drs. E. D. Daniel, Dickson, A. W. G. Ewing, and T. S. Littler, who state that noise produced by certain types of multi-engine aircraft has been measured and found to reach loudness levels which are injurious to human ears. Tests carried out by the Royal Air Force even after a few hundred hours of flying without helmets in enclosed cockpits showed a persistent loss of hearing for high tones. The tests were made by the usual methods—voice, tuning fork—and also by the hearing measuring machine, the audiometer. The flyers themselves were not aware that some of their hearing ability had been lost.

"Noise in connection with flying arises from three sources, the engine exhaust, the propeller, and the wind."

Tests were made to find the amount of protection of hearing provided by the standard pattern of flying helmet and other ear protectors and also what protection can be afforded by simple ways of blocking the ear or packing the canal leading to the outer side of ear drum. They found that packing the ear with absorbent cotton smeared with vaseline was a quick, safe, and efficient method.

Why does noise affect more than the hearing and bring tiredness of mind and body?

Hearing was given primitive man to enable him to hear noise so that he could tighten his nerves and muscles and be ready for flight or fight. Constant or loud noise keeps him greatly tensed, hence the damage to the nervous system.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

March 10, 1920.—Henry W. Smith and Edith B. Johnson married.

Mrs. DeWitt Terpening died in Sleightsburgh. Many were reported ill in city during February. The health officers report showed 147 cases of flu and 218 cases of measles that month.

March 11, 1920.—Death of Andrew Schupp of Hamraty street.

William S. Sickler died at the home of his daughter on Hemlock avenue, aged 81 years.

A joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Federated Women's Clubs, found that a Community House here was a necessity.

The Ulster County Agricultural Society purchased Ellenville fair grounds, where the county fair had been held for many years.

March 10, 1930.—Hearing held here on proposed overhead highway bridge across the West Shore railroad tracks at West Park. After taking some testimony the hearing adjourned when state officials and New York Central representatives agreed to confer later in attempt to arrive at an agreement.

The state senate passed an appropriation of $375,000 for the New Paltz Normal School.

Lowest temperature recorded during the night by The Freeman thermometer was 32 degrees.

March 11, 1930.—Uptown business men at meeting favored one hour parking in uptown business district.

There were 16 cases of scarlet fever in city in February, according to report of health officer. He also reported 13 cases of pneumonia, and no measles cases.

Earl F. Markle died in Daytona, Florida. Death of Dr. Harold H. Walker in New Paltz. Mrs. David Moon of Franklin street died. Kingston High School defeated Goshen at basketball.

London, (AP)—The Britisher at home now can send post-free "joy" packages to interned relatives and prisoners of war in Germany. They will be repacked by the British Red Cross, which has advised senders to stick to knitted goods, shaving gear, tobacco, and bar chocolate. Other food, games and books are banned. Packages will be censored. Each prisoner is allowed one 11-pound package every three months.

Salina, Kans., (AP)—There are people who think the left hind foot of a rabbit is as sure to bring good luck as a four-leaf clover. So there should be plenty of luck for a Salina firm which has the left hind feet of 27,000 jack-rabbits purchased with rabbit hides this winter. In case you might want one, they are free for the asking with this reminder from the management: "They didn't bring the rabbits any particularly good luck."

London, (AP)—Britain and France, in their war of "complete co-operation," are helping each other out with scientific problems and are getting German prisoners to help them, too. A French scientific mission visited England, consulted with British scientists, and worked out a system of pooling inventions and ideas. German scientists are being taken from French internment camps to assist the French scientific problems.

Mussolini and Hitler Must, if They Read American Papers, Get Many a Chuckle Over Events in Congress

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 11.—Maybe Signor Mussolini and Herr Hitler are too busy these days to read the American newspapers but, if they do read them, they must be getting many a chuckle out of what is happening in the United States Congress. For the picture of pressure groups fighting one another and public officials striving to prevent the passage of laws that would keep them from debauching public funds for their own selfish advantage is one that confirms in more respects than one the charges which the two Fascist dictators have often leveled against democracy.

Here in the most powerful democracy in the world, the very bickerings of party and factional politics, which both Mussolini and Hitler have especially singled out for criticism as sapping the structure of the state, are growing rather than diminishing in intensity.

Between 8,000,000 and 9,000,000 persons are unemployed, business moves uncertainly along under artificial stimulants either of domestic "pump priming" or war orders, and yet the fundamental questions that disturb the national economy go untouched except for a superficial survey now and then. Each political party finds itself catering to the big group votes and individual members of Congress bow in fear of group retaliation.

Take the labor question as an example. A law is passed nearly five years ago involving a sweeping change in employer-employee relations. It is urged that the law be given a chance to function. It is given such a chance. It is urged that the law and not the administrators be at fault. Congress with characteristic carelessness delegates broad powers, insists they will not be abused, and then, when the power is misused, is afraid to take the powers back. The labor factions which are the beneficiaries line up votes back home. Committee chairmen in Congress respectively take their rigid positions. Each charges the other with bad motives and, in the end, the very chaotic condition, which shows democracy at its worst and gives Fascism its excuse, is produced because the pressure groups are totalitarians at heart. The idea of objective statesmanship, of legislative broad-mindedness is gone. Pressure groups actually control the New Deal committees of Congress body and soul. The old days of special privilege are imitated almost to the method and the technique.

Meanwhile, serious friction grows, employer and employee relations are kept disturbed and the incapacity of democracy to correct its own errors is again demonstrated. Most of the trouble, of course, is that too many members of Congress care less for their convictions, than for risk to their political careers. Little do they realize the risk is more imaginary than real, but they often lack the courage to make the test.

A special meeting of members of the Music Study Club is called for Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Blakely. It was not possible to procure tickets for the performance of Lohengrin on March 16 and a decision must be made about another event. Mr. and Mrs. John Dusinberre were at the home of their daughter, Mrs. James Shurter, in Marlborough Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Fred Boyce slipped as she was walking across the school grounds Thursday morning and fell, breaking her right arm. Mrs. Boyce is teacher of the 3A grade. Word was received from Mr. and Mrs. August Gersch in which they say they expect to be back at their home here March 15. They have spent several weeks in Fort Lauderdale and driving about Florida.

The matter of scheming to keep their jobs is best illustrated, however, in the struggle over legislation for so-called "purity" in politics. Senators brazenly attempt to fight such proposals and to use parliamentary tricks to defeat them largely because they know it may hurt their own campaigns for reelection. So accustomed have they become to using public funds and public offices for personal purposes that, before the very eyes of the whole country, they venture now to oppose any further restriction.

In a way these men on Capitol Hill cannot be blamed altogether. The deterioration in public morality in these last few years has been considerable. The New Deal came into power on the crest of a wave of liberalism which to many people meant idealism. It meant purity in governmental action, a fair deal for the underprivileged and at most a redistribution of wealth by sociological reform.

Some of the measures passed have lived up to that objective, but some of them have added cancers to the economic life of the country which are much worse than the ills of yesteryears. Now notwithstanding these reform measures, there has become ingrained in the New Deal concept of government on Capitol Hill a philosophy that political selfishness is unavoidable and that the end always justifies the means.

The Hatch Law was passed after public opinion was outraged by the scandalous use of the WPA machinery in elections. But there have been no prosecutions under the Hatch law. A political department of justice will never prosecute anybody in its own political party. On top of this the AAA was used only last week for political purposes with the participation of the secretary of agriculture himself. Everybody who wasn't here yesterday knows a political dinner when the taxpayers were the ones who were how it was arranged. The "celebration" of the anniversary of the AAA fooled nobody.

Maybe the administration deserves votes from the farmers for giving them public funds when they needed help, but if democracy's only method of keeping its majorities is by furnishing subsidies and collecting votes for favors given, then it is only a question of time when the taxpayers who are really compelled to pay for these uneconomic schemes must ultimately welcome—even as did European peoples—the inevitable climax that puts an end to such undermining of the public credit.

In the interim, as democracy in America reveals itself full of political chicanery, political selfishness and immorality, copies of the Congressional Record these days might well be barred from export to either Italy or Germany where they might give too much comfort to the Fascists who have sneered not only at democracy's weakness and internal disorders, but at the palpable spinelessness of democracy's legislators.

Carlos Davila, former Chilean ambassador to the United States, provisional president of Chile, and noted journalist and editor, will speak in assembly March 12. Recognized as one of the leading authorities on Latin American relations and an events south of the Rio Grande, Mr. Davila is at present director of the Editor's Press Service, a syndicate supplying news and features to a large number of Latin American newspapers. In addition to operating his own news syndicate, Mr. Davila writes for numerous newspapers and magazines in this country. Mr. Davila was the Chilean government's representative to the United States from 1927 to 1931. Upon his return to Chile he founded the magazine "Hoy," but left this post to serve as provisional president of the Junta Le Gobierno from June to September, 1932. Mr. Davila was born in Los Angeles, Chile, 1887, and was educated at the Liceo de Concepcion and the St. Louis English College at Valparaiso, Chile. He has been awarded an L. L. D. degree by Columbia University of Southern California. His first journalistic experience was with the "El Mercurio" in Chile, which is the oldest Spanish language newspaper in the world. Later he was founder and director of "La Nacion" and "Los Tiempos." According to Mr. Davila at least 80 per cent of the South American governments are Fascist. He believes that the Latin American republic will play an important part in the current struggle for power.

He states that the resurgence of Spain under Franco will have a significant bearing on Latin American development, and also that Franco will be able to preserve his neutrality in the present European struggle and revive her national strength. Mr. Davila has observed international politics from the inside as well as from the journalistic sidelines. Though he has never sought office nor received a salary from the public treasury, he has served his country as its chief diplomatic representative to this country and was sent to this country and was sent to this country and was sent to this country for a time its provisional president. Mr. Davila makes New York city the headquarters for his syndicate but travels frequently to Chile and to the other South American countries. He writes special articles occasionally for the magazine sections of such United States papers as the Herald Tribune and the St. Louis Post Dispatch and hopes some day that he will get around to writing a book. All sororities will hold their formal initiations for pledges Tuesday evening, March 12. Regular meetings will follow the formal initiation ceremonies. Pi Sigma Lambda sorority will be entertained by Miss Taylor at her home. Members and pledges will wear formal gowns.

International Relations Club will hold its regular monthly meeting next Thursday, March 15, at 7:30 p. m., at the Delta Kappa House. The topic under discussion at that time will be the "Far Eastern Situation," with particular emphasis on American interests. Henry Ferwerda will present a paper explaining the Japanese point of view, and John Owen will speak on the relation of the United States to the far eastern problem. Following the speakers there will be a general discussion period.

The Misses Mildred Ludwig, Evelyn Winfield and Eleanor Bundy of Kingston will remain in New Paltz for the alumni week-end of March 15. A program of activities has been arranged by the Normal School and sororities and fraternities.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, March 9.—Mrs. Blanche Rodriguez and Miss Jennie Kerr were hostesses for the day and served dinner at the Ladies' Aid Church quilting on Wednesday. The meeting was well attended and considerable work was accomplished. One quilt was completed and another one well started. During the afternoon a business meeting was held with President Mrs. Van Demark in charge. The session was opened by repeating the Lord's Prayer. Those present at the dinner were the president, Mrs. Van Demark; vice president, Mrs. Rodriguez; treasurer, Mrs. Anna Avery; Mrs. James Eckert, Mrs. Florence Bell, Mrs. Alice Bell, Mrs. Addie Kelder, Mrs. Kathryn Terwilliger, Mrs. Charles Gustafson, Miss Ollie Burgher, Miss Jennie Kerr, Mrs. Mattie Davis. Present during the afternoon also were Mrs. Thomas Burge, the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Bailey and daughter, Irma. The Rev. and Mrs. Frank Bailey and daughter, Irma, were supper guests Wednesday at Maple Dell Farm. During the evening a class for the Sunday school teachers was held.

Wednesday the Watson Hollow WPA workers were engaged in snow shoveling, widening out passing places along the heavily snow flanked highway.

Ben Rodriguez of Watson Hollow road has been ill at his home. He is now improved and around again.

Joe Winkler, manager of Judge Lester S. Davis' store during his Florida trip, was an out-of-town caller one day this week. Ex-Superintendent of Highways and Mrs. Claude Bell, accompanied by Judge and Mrs. Lester S. Davis, left by auto Wednesday on a three-weeks' trip to Florida. Supervisor and Mrs. Lemuel E. DuBois of Ashokan finally got away on their long planned trip Monday. Mr. and Mrs. M. Floyd Terwilliger, also of Ashokan, started for their annual trip south Wednesday, traveling in company with the Bell-Davis party.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Avery, David Bender and Miss Jennie Kerr returned Monday from their visit to Allegheny county.

Julian Eckert and Harold Constable hauled hay Wednesday and Thursday for Mr. Eckert's team from the Will Morrison barn near Traver Hollow. The hay was harvested and stored there last summer by Mr. Eckert.

Miss Jennie Kerr is paying a brief visit at the home of her brother, Theodore, and wife, in West Hurley.

Symphony Plans Are Under Way

About 20 of Kingston's prominent musically minded citizens will meet at St. John's rectory, 209 Albany avenue, on Tuesday at 8 p. m. to complete the organization of the Kingston Symphony Orchestra.

At this meeting officers will be elected, directors, executives and committees appointed, and plans made for the permanent work of the symphony, and a concert in April.

The amount of enthusiasm already shown in this new permanent project for Kingston is encouraging, and in line with the trend elsewhere. Whereas some 10 years ago there existed only a dozen full-sized symphony orchestras in the country, these now number more than 600, according to a statement made by George Hagstrom, conductor.

Similar organizations under Mr. Hagstrom have made notable success in Poughkeepsie and Middletown, and a symphony is being started in Newburgh. By combining the best artists from these groups it is hoped that a symphony of note will be established, playing in collaboration with each group, yet keeping each group a distinct symphony in itself. More than 30 members of the Kingston Symphony have been rehearsing regularly for several months in Leventhal Hall on Wall street. The number of instruments is increasing steadily. Persons interested in promoting the symphony are cordially invited to attend the rehearsals, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoons.

Jacob Mollott, cellist, has been appointed associate conductor. Instrumentalists who wish to try out for the orchestra should be at the Leventhal Hall shortly before 2 o'clock on Sunday. Players who have had some experience will be welcomed.

Production of cigarettes in Canada during 1938 totalled 6,899,735,000 valued at $53,224,900.

"SPEED for bob-sledding thrills!"
S-L-O-W BURNING for smoking thrills!"
says champion "Bucky" Wells

THEY'RE OFF—on the mile-long Mt. Van Hoevenberg run at Lake Placid, N. Y., with "Bucky" Wells driving. Fifteen breath-taking turns to go. Fifteen chances to taste the supreme thrills of speed. But in smoking it's different. "It's slow burning that makes a cigarette tick with me," "Bucky" says. And he means what he says, because he's smoked slow-burning Camels for ten years.

"ONE-TWO-BOB! ONE-TWO-BOB!" As the crew bobs, "Bucky" picks up speed... 60-70-80 miles an hour, driving high on the wall of ice as he swings the quarter-ton steel sled around the curve. But in cigarettes, this daring speedster gives the laurels to slow-burning Camels. You can tell by their mild, mellow taste that Camels burn cooler, slower—and scientists have confirmed this: Camels burned slowest of all in recent tests. (See panel below.)

Smokers: SAVE THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX
Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (See panel at right.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get this: an economy—and all the exquisite enjoyment of cooler, milder, more fragrant and more costly tobaccos.

FOR THE THRILLS AND 'EXTRAS' IN SMOKING— EXTRA MILDNESS EXTRA COOLNESS EXTRA FLAVOR AND EXTRA SMOKING—I PICK THE SLOW-BURNING CIGARETTE ... CAMEL

If you want to know how it feels to go 80 miles an hour on a racing bob-sled, "Bucky" Wells of Keene Valley, N. Y., can tell you. But when it comes to cigarettes, "Bucky" Wells is on the slow side... the slow-burning side. That means Camels! "I know that Camels burn slower," "Bucky" says. "There's cool comfort in a slow-burning Camel. Mildness—more flavor. Every puff is a fresh treat to the taste, and—get this—there are many more puffs to enjoy in a Camel. Slow burning means extra smoking. I'd walk a mile for a..."

Even if a gust of wind did carry away "Bucky's" last word, not many people would fail to realize it was C-A-M-E-L. Camels are made from costlier tobaccos—drawn from the greatest treasure of mellowed tobaccos ever brought together in one place in the whole world.

LEAP BEFORE YOU LOOK

By Peggy O'More

YESTERDAY: At Abe's suggestion Tomi advertised for a ranchman. A young man named Pierre Prudhomme arrives without writing just as Allen is giving a party for Tomi.

Chapter 12

A Man For You

THEN Pierre appeared with Lily. He had discarded his coat and tie, and someone had wrapped his head in a bright red kerchief. Tomi marveled at the ease with which he had adapted himself to the group.

"M. Mankin tells me she was rude to you the first time you met, and now she wants to apologize," he said.

And again Tomi must comply, graciously, "I wasn't exactly friendly," she conceded.

Lily smiled and Tomi discovered a most provocative dimple. The girl was pretty. She wanted to like her.

"Werent we funny?" she asked, laughing, and Tomi suddenly saw the ridiculous side of their meeting.

"I had you pictured as a dried-up spinster," Lily explained, "and here you turned out to be young and pretty. You were an awful disappointment."

Tomi laughed with her. "Timothy was my great-uncle, you know."

And then the crowd descended upon them.

"This will never do," cried a red-head called Myrtle. "You must have smut on your face before you are branded as one of the gang. Come on and turn the pork chops, eyes red with smoke from the open fireplace, hair tousled from the low-hanging cedar boughs. There was smut on her face and grease stains on her new frock, but she was happy. She had never been as happy.

The crowd liked her. She could tell by the way they teased her, scolded her, and ordered her around. When they had settled around the pit for lunch, they included her in their future plans.

"We'll have to find a man for you," decided Myrtle.

"She has one!" Bartell spoke with a finality that caused Tomi's breath to catch. He was looking at her as though he detested her. Surely he didn't think she knew Prudhomme well enough to single him out.

"He's one fellow," Bartell went on, "who is going to handle her as she needs to be handled. He'll knock that temper out of her if he has to use a belying pin. And when he's through with his disciplining, she'll sit up and beg."

Tomi looked at Bartell and hated him anew. There he sat, sun shining down on him as though it had been made for the sole purpose of bringing out the highlights in his hair, the bronze of his skin, the fiendish glints in his eyes, and to illuminate that slow, lazy smile.

Then she looked at Prudhomme and was surprised at what she saw. There was nothing impersonal in that glance. It was grave, serious, considering.

The crowd waited. Tomi elevated a bun with a pork chop protruding at a rakish angle. "If this fellow has a sister, see if she'll take you in hand," she suggested.

While the group hooted at Bartell, Tomi enjoyed her sandwich, sand, cinders and cedar needles. Nothing had ever tasted as delicious.

"My dear," Myrtle swooped down on her, "you're going dancing with us tonight. You're too good to lose. Imagine any girl not going her own way with Allen Pierre, who can be my man for the evening, and I'll lend Jack to Tomi."

Pierre sprang to his feet and hurried to Tomi. "But, if Miss Toland will be so kind—"

Tomi flashed him a look of gratitude and turned to Myrtle. "That's sweet of you, dear, but I'm so poor at returning favors I borrow."

And on this high note of laughter Tomi returned to the farm.

Stern Parent

ABE liked Prudhomme. He was as enthusiastic as his lack of teeth would allow. "I tell you, Miss Tomi, I wouldn't put it past him to grow us a five-legged frog."

"Quints or nothing," agreed Tomi, and fled upstairs.

What should she wear? Tomi tried on each frock she had purchased, while ABE watched at the foot of the stairs to pass judgment. She was wearing pink tulle over American beauty taffeta when Allen appeared.

"You look like the pink stuff they sell at the circus," he said.

"Oh, I didn't mean lemonade," he corrected. "I meant the stuff that looks like spun sugar. And if it will help you, the girls are wearing semi-formals tonight."

Myrtle said to tell you, he added hastily.

"Is that what inspired this visit?" Tomi inquired.

Allen waited until Old Abe, sensing a storm brewing, shuffled out of the house.

"No, it isn't. Who is this Prudhomme person?"

Tomi's cheeks were as pink as her frock. "And may I ask if you've suddenly assumed the role of the stern parent?"

Bartell sank into a chair, his long frame folding like a jack-knife. "Someone should've grumbled. Personally, I don't believe he's the old friend he says he is, or he'd call you Tomi, instead of Miss Toland," he mimicked.

"I had an accent like that until Great-aunt Hannah whipped it out of me with a maple switch," Tomi flashed.

"I'm sorry," and for the first time he sounded sorry. "It's just—well, don't you see, Tomi, this isn't the day and age to go off with a man you don't know. I promised old Timothy I'd look after you like a mother."

"Like a mother," supplied Tomi, who had softened at his evidence of concern, then winced as he'd attributed it to a promise given her great-uncle.

"Are you trying to tell me you suspect Pierre of dire motives?" she asked.

"No. After all, we do belong to the same fraternity. He wouldn't have let me in on that if he couldn't stand having his past record checked. But—" he looked at Tomi with a boyish grin—"to break down and admit the truth, I'd planned on taking you myself."

Tomi didn't understand the sudden rage which shook her. "Your new car will carry three, won't it?" she asked. "And without musing either Lily's or my frock."

Bartell stood up abruptly. "I've been waiting for that, and I believe I will ask Lily. She doesn't scratch when you try to be nice to her."

He was gone suddenly, the door banging behind him. Tomi's door also banged as she went in to don a house dress, preparatory to fixing Abe's dinner.

Tomi dressed for the dance with unusual care. She revealed in donning clothes without the feminine members of the Toland family sitting around, criticizing every move. She also missed their caustic remarks; wondered why they didn't write and if they were never going to.

Slipping into a pale yellow frock, its only claim to distinction being its lines and the flat white joniouls applied to the shoulder and cascading down the full skirt, she thought it a bit ridiculous to take such care. After all, she was dining and dancing with a man she expected to hire. Wouldn't Great-aunt Hannah throw a fit at such democracy in a Toland?

Angry Heart

HER prospective employee called in a cab at the appointed hour. He looked distinguished in his dinner clothes.

"You have a French woman's flair for the right ensemble," he complimented.

The Alameda, where the dinner dance was to be held, was the antithesis of the hotels Tomi had known. It was a low, Spanish structure, rambling in a half moon about a velvet lawn studded with palms and magnolias. Inside, it was built about a glassed patio where a fountain and pool ridiculed the idea of its being a commercial institution.

Most of the crowd had gathered, but Tomi was there in time to see Lily's triumphant arrival. She clung to Allen's arm "as though she were afraid someone would snatch him from under," scoffed Tomi.

They dined, and they danced. Pierre—she might as well call him that; everyone else seemed to—danced perfectly. She felt she could dance with him forever, give herself up to the joy of rhythm and music.

She danced with others, then, somehow, found Bartell pushing them away.

She couldn't criticize his dancing, that is his footwork, but there was something wrong. She couldn't hear the music for the thudding of her angry heart.

Angry, because she must go the way he directed. And she was confusingly aware of his arms, of the lazy, teasing smile he sent down when she dared to look up.

Sometimes she was afraid the music would never stop. And sometimes she was afraid it would stop too soon. And then it did, and Bartell, escorting her back to the table, thanked Prudhomme, for the dance.

"The conceited prig," she murmured. And, to Pierre's attentive, "I beg your pardon, she said: 'Mr. Bartell seems so very sure of himself.'"

"But, of course," agreed Prudhomme, with exaggerated nonchalance. "I am told he is the most successful young attorney in this community, specializes in estates, and in the drawing of wills. That, Miss Toland," he sent her a quizzical glance, "should make you feel very secure."

It made her feel very insecure. Tomi's worries descended in a cloud, cutting her off from the gaiety of the party. When Bartell, a protesting Lily clinging to him, paused at their table to say good-night, she was sure he was up to some mischief directed at her.

Lily's words confirmed her fear. The little blonde pouted prettily at Prudhomme. "Allen has some silly old business to attend to, so I have to go home."

Lily had made this a challenge to Prudhomme, but he didn't accept it. He merely bowed and expressed his sympathy.

Tomi found the party increasingly drab. She wondered if she had taken cold. Something caused her to feel depressed when she should be happy, and when Prudhomme expressed a fear that she was tired and suggested he take her home, she accepted with alacrity.

She remained silent as their cab sped down tree-lined avenues where street lights seemed strung like fat Chinese lanterns, the lacy branches of pepper trees silhouetted against them.

"I should discuss business with you," she offered as they crossed the bridge.

"Not tonight," begged Prudhomme. "Can't we forget for these few hours that you are to be my employer?"

What This Country Needs

Isn't more liberty, but less people who take liberties with our liberty.

Is not a job for every man, but a real man for every job.

Isn't to get more taxes from the people, but for the people to get more from the taxes.

Is not more miles of territory, but more miles to the gallon.

Is more tractors and less de-tractors.

Isn't more young men making speed, but more young men planting spuds.

Is more point on the old place and less point on the young face.

Isn't a lower rate of interest on money, but a higher interest in work.

Is to follow the footsteps of the father instead of the footsteps of the dancing master.

Gerald—Tomorrow evening I'm going to the suburbs to see a model home.

Charles—That's great. See if she can't get a friend for me.

The Sweet Young Thing next door says that every time her boy friend kisses her, she sees spots before her eyes. We found out her boy friend has freckles.

A psychiatric board was testing the mentality of a negro soldier.

Examiner—Do you ever hear voices without being able to tell who is speaking or where the voices come from?

Negro—Yes, suh!

Examiner—And when does this occur?

Negro—When I answers the telephone.

Love will generally find a way, but it is usually the most expensive one.

"The fellow who isn't fired with enthusiasm is apt to be fired."

Teacher—What do you think

Julius Caesar would do were he living now?

Pupil—Draw an old-age pension.

A man tells us his buddy took the first step leading toward divorce action this week. He got married.

Lady (in kitchen)—What can I do to have soft, beautiful hands?

New Cook—You're doing it, ma'am. Nothing.

Dear Tom: "Come tomorrow evening sure. Daddy is at home, but is laid up with a very sore foot. See? May."

Dear May: "I can't come tomorrow evening. I'm laid up on account of your father's sore foot. See? Tom."

Speak in jest if you will—but not too often. Only professional jesters find cap and bells profitable.

Elsie—What made you quarrel with Norman?

Helen—The meanie, he proposed to me again last night.

Elsie—But certainly that was nothing to get angry about.

Helen—Oh, yes it was. I accepted him the night before.

Who said that women cannot keep a secret?

How many have ever told you their correct age?

Gertrude—Gracious! Don't you think Clem Marks has a weak mouth?

Harriett—Oh, no, it can kiss hours on end without getting tired.

It is not only the expensive things they put on their heads, but the foolish notions some wives get into their heads that worry husbands.

It is easy to part with some things: Teacher: Heyton, come here and give me what you have in your mouth.

Heyton—I-I-I'd certainly like to, teacher. It's the toothache.

Flashes of Life

Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Nice in the House, Too
Rochester, Ind.—A three-day-old calf on Wallace Morris' farm has double protection against flies.

The calf, a purebred Durham, was born with two tails. The extra one is on his left hip.

He deduced that a salesman's scrawl for a "swim" trophy has been interpreted as "swine."

Dogs on Strike
Watertown, Mass.—Police answered an emergency call from a telephone operator that the receiver was off in James Delville's gasoline station and she could hear a dog barking.

They found "Gypsy," a two-year-old English setter, and her two puppies hungry. A can of dog food remedied the situation.

Absent-Minded Prof.
Seattle—Psychology Professor Edwin Guthrie of Washington University went to Harborview Hospital to lecture nurses on "memory."

A puzzled senior nurse turned the platform over to him when he explained why he had come. The nurses gave him enthusiastic—but puzzled—applause.

Back in his office, Guthrie looked in his date book. He had given the address a week too early—and to the wrong audience.

Lovebird Lover
Los Angeles—You may have heard that lovebirds die if they are parted.

Leonard Doran, 24, apparently had.

He chased an escaped bird over roofs and ledges as high as ten stories for three hours before he returned it to its mate.

Pig in Wrong Pen!
Lincoln, Neb.—O. L. Webb, secretary of the Nebraska High School Athletic Association, gave a grant of surprise when he opened a box of trophies to be awarded winners of the annual swimming tournament. Inside was a fat, gold-plated pig.

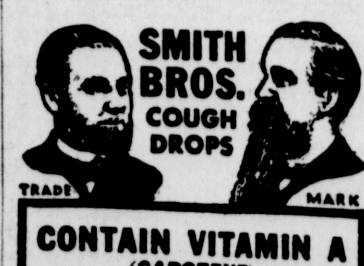

He deduced that a salesman's scrawl for a "swim" trophy has been interpreted as "swine."

High School Band
Heard in Concert

The Kingston High School Band, under the direction of Kenneth Appleton, gave its first public concert Sunday afternoon at the high school auditorium. Not only was it the first time the band has appeared in concert under its new director, but it also sported the new uniforms for the drum major and the new band banner.

The program was well received from the opening bars of the first number. The band has been well trained and followed the directions of the conductor at every beat. Although the brass section slightly overbalanced the other choir at times, the performance can be said to have been a splendid showing of band work in the high school.

The program included three marches, "The Thunderer" and "Semper Fidelis" of Sousa and "Colonel Bogey" by Alford. The march numbers were the best performed although the "Scarlet Mask" overture of Zamecnik and "Cabins" fantasy of Gillette, which called for more shadings and interpretations, were also well performed by the group of youthful musicians.

For a first concert the band performed excellently and it is hoped that other such performances will be given from time to time.

Soloists on the program were Miss Joan Craig, a flautist of the band, who played "Sonata No. 3" by Handel. Miss Craig showed a smooth breathing and articulation and a command of her instrument and promise of fast advancement as flute soloist.

Guest artist for the afternoon was Miss Leona May Smith, a young cornetist of already great fame. One of her numbers was her own arrangement of "The Blue Danube." Beautiful phrasing, a lovely tone, smoothness of the rapid passages and delicacy on the soft passages and finished technique were among the attributes which won for her the demand of several encores.

Miss Smith, who was accompanied by George Seuffert, played "Carnival of Venice," "Flight of the Bumblebee" and "I Love You Truly" and "Valse Caprice" by Strauss.

The band members made an impressive entrance and exit. On the stage were the percussion players and Marian Obenaus, band majorette. With the roll of the drums the band marched up both sides of the auditorium, led by Drum Major Joan Craig and Drum Major Elbert Loughran.

The exit after the concert was made in the same manner after the front of the stage for the final bars of the Sousa March.

RULES FOR WHEN AND HOW TO USE TITLES WITH NAMES
VERY SIMPLE

Many People Confused But Proper Way, Once Learned, Is Easy to Remember and Follow

Titles—when to use them and when not—seem to confuse many people. Actually the rules are explicit and once learned their use is quite simple. For example, a man who has no title except Mr. signs his name alone, in a hotel register, John Adams Brown, or J. A. Brown, or whatever his signature may be. But if he is a clergyman or a doctor or an officer, he signs his name, The Rev. James A. Brown, or Dr. J. A. Brown, or if he prefers, J. A. Brown, M. D., or Col. James A. Brown. In other words, men with these titles prefix them to their signatures, always. When a man is with his wife, he writes his own name on one line and his wife's name beneath:

John Adams Brown
Mrs. Brown

Or he may register his wife and himself together this way:

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Brown
A doctor with his wife writes: Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Brown (he can't add M. D. to Mrs.). A doctor married to a doctor writes his own name first and his wife's separately beneath:

Dr. John A. Smith
Dr. Mary Smith

There is only one definite tabu: Do NOT write John A. Brown and Wife. A child under five is added on the end of the mother's name as "and child," without a name; or "two children," "three children," etc. Between five years and their teens, children are registered as Mary and John Brown, in the order of their ages. (John's name would come first if he is older.) Grown daughters' names are always written above the names of their brothers:

Miss Amy Brown
Miss Mary Brown
William Brown

"Thank You" Sometimes Better Than Money

Dear Mrs. Post: When I go to spend the week-end in the house of my employer, and spend three-quarters of the time working with him on business and the remaining quarter is social, am I expected to tip the servants? Ordinarily, of course, when I go to stay in the houses of friends who are lucky enough to have a maid, I give something to her. But I am in doubt about what to do in this particular situation.

Answer: I am sure it would not be expected; in fact, I think it might be thought tactless rather than generous. You should of course say "good-bye" and "thank you" to those who looked after you—particularly to any one of them who has been kindly attentive to your wants.

Young Girls at Lunch Alone

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for two young girls alone to go to lunch at a place that is famous as a supper club? I am referring to one of the much publicized supper clubs in New York.

Answer: Yes, entirely proper. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad, however, to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "Names and Signatures." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Warren entertained at a tea Saturday afternoon at her home in Hurley in honor of her house guest, Miss Anne Leaycraft, of Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Teller were hosts at cocktails on Saturday at their home on Fair street in honor of their wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Van Ingen of Pine street returned Sunday evening from a five weeks' vacation in Florida.

Mrs. Russell Keiter of Main street, accompanied by Miss Elma Smith, of O'Reilly street, left Thursday on a two weeks' motor trip to Washington and North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. McManus of Johnston avenue are vacationing at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Dr. and Mrs. Philip P. Foley of Albany avenue have returned from a vacation in Florida.

Lodge Group Plans
For April Meeting

Highland, March 11.—Councillor Mrs. Cecile Petersen at the meeting of Ida McKinley Council, 65, Daughters of America, Wednesday evening, gave a report on plans for the meeting with the district deputy in Saugerties April 12 in the J. O. U. A. M. hall. It will be preceded by a turkey dinner in the Methodist Church at 6:30 o'clock. Reservations for the dinner are to be sent to Councillor Petersen by April 1 with money.

The reception committee will consist of Deputies Mrs. Ruth Schofield, Mrs. Tressa Swibold, Mrs. Edna Schoonmaker, Mildred Decker and Harry Constant, Harry Gerhardt and Louis Robinson.

Officers for the meeting have been chosen as follows: Junior past councillor, Mrs. Cora Parks; associate junior past councillor, Mrs. Elsa Swift, Highland; councillor from Saugerties, associate councillor, Mrs. Mabel Yaeger, Highland; vice-councillor and associate from Kingston; treasurer, Mrs. Daisy Kurtz, Highland; desk officers from Saugerties; conductor and warden from Kingston; inside and outside sentinel, Ellenville. Mrs. Tillie Hauck, Saugerties, degree captain, and music in charge of District Deputy Anna Minkler and Mrs. Eightymer.

Vice-Councillor Mrs. Charlotte Salomon gave a report of the meeting of the Daughters Scout committee with Mrs. William Barnaby Tuesday evening. Miss Finetta Norton, national director of Girl Scouts, was a guest and explained how the committee could help the girls.

The councillor appointed friendship committees to visit the membership of the council with her: Mrs. Mabel Yaeger and Mrs. Viola Constable, first week; Mrs. Charlotte Salomon and Mrs. Carrie Atkins, the second week.

There will be guest speakers following the next meeting and a birthday party for members and friends with birthdays during January, February and March. The refreshment committee for the meeting is: Mrs. Viola Constable, Walter Constable, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cotant, Mrs. Gertrude Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker, Mrs. Emeline Miller Decker.

Councillor Cecile Petersen presided at this meeting with all officers present except Mrs. Daisy Kurtz, treasurer, who is ill, and Mrs. Grace Relyea, warden. Substitutes were Mrs. Gwendolyn Callahan and Mrs. Carrie Atkins.

West Shokan School Makes High Attendance Average

West Shokan, March 9.—The local school attendance average for the first six months was 94 per cent and for the month of February 90 per cent. However, the pupils who have been absent with grip and colds are again in attendance.

Pupils on the honor roll are: Helen Harrison, Rosetta Colange, Louise Colange and Anthony Colange.

Health roll members who qualified for the month of February were: Louise Colange, Rosetta Colange, Betty Constable and Francis Constable.

Recently letters have been received from former pupils. Walter Miller, a private in the U. S. Army now in Honolulu, reports that he still is enjoying army life. Violet Maxin, now a pupil of the Ruby school, writes that she hasn't forgotten anyone in the community and hopes to make a visit soon.

Dorothy Dwyer, another former pupil of the local school, now attending Kingston High School, was top-flight in a spelling contest given at that school a short time ago. Miss Dorothy will celebrate her 12th birthday on March 21. She won second prize in a spelling bee held at Phoenixia by the American Legion a few years ago.

The Junior Town Citizen Club held a meeting recently. Sarah Roe presided. It was decided to give prizes to those who sell the most garden seed. The pupils are selling the seed to raise funds for their club purposes. Sarah now leads the list. Proceeds from the sale of seeds must be in by the next club meeting.

Officers named for March are: Sarah Roe, re-elected supervisor; Betty Constable, superintendent; Helen Harrison, clerk; Louise Colange, collector; Francis Constable, health officer; Rosetta Colange, re-elected constable, and Anthony Colange, judge. Refreshments followed the business meeting.

Smart New Slip Cover
You Can Quickly Make

Cord and Fringe in High Favor

Transform dull rooms for Spring with colorful new slip covers. You can whip them up right at home—inexpensively, too.

The cover in the picture is ultra-smart with its double row of white bullion fringe and its white cord trim. The fabric is a sturdy crash in soft bottle-green. And it's easy to make this or any style cover the pin-on-way.

Remove cushions and smooth fabric over chair, beginning at top of back and working down over seat. Fabric should be wrong side out when you use cord trim. Pin where seams will be and cut, allowing 1 1/2 inches for seams.

In the same way, fit arms, sides and back. Now baste, try on and you're ready to add the skirt—two rows of fringe, stitched to a straight piece of crash. The cord trim you whip over finished seams as the diagram shows.

For complete instructions for cutting, fitting and finishing slip covers, see our 32-page booklet. Gives diagrams and directions for fitting any type of chair or sofa. Suggests smart styles, color schemes, fabrics, trimmings.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of HOW TO MAKE SLIP COVERS to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, March 11 (AP)—Is it telling tales out of school to pass along reports that Harry Stuhldreher is ready to leave Wisconsin? Jack Doyle, Broadway betting commissioner, will send the Reds out favorites over the Cards. ...Chuck Fenske, the new mile king, wants a job in a New York law office, which should be a lead pipe cinch to arrange. ...Bad news: Jack Miley wired his paper (The N. Y. Post) the Giants are the worst-looking bunch of ball players he has seen in Florida. ...Northwestern U. tennis stock soared when Seymour Greenberg, national public parks champ, reported for rehearsals.

Ah Ha!
Dick Hyland of the Los Angeles Times has been doing a little gum shoe work. ...He thinks the reason Clippie Smith changed his mind about going to Loyola (Los Angeles) is that they promised him two dozen junior college players would be on deck in February, but that only one showed up—a 165-pound end.

The betting now is that the Florida coaching job will stay right in the family. ...Johnny Paycheck has decided on Pompton Lakes as his training camp for the Louisville bout. ...Cecil Travis of the Senators set some sort of a record when he received his diploma from an Atlanta baseball school in exactly two days. ...Stan Lomax, the brawny sports commentator, is being boosted for the Giant-Yankee broadcasting job. ...Both Bud Ward, the national amateur champ, and Jim Ferris, Australia's open and amateur king, will play in the north and south open at Pinehurst next week. ...Esther Williams, the good-looking Los Angeles swimmer, has taken a movie test and it turned out O. K.

Today's Guest Star
Nixon C. Denton, Cincinnati Times-Star: "Arthur Godoy's style must be catching. ...A lad by the name of Crouch fought in Los Angeles the other night."

Connie Mack is predicting a first division finish for the A's and he isn't just talking for the news reels. ...Coach Dean Cromwell teaches his Southern California track stars to run pigeon-toed, thereby being a runner gets more drive out of all five toes than just the big one. ...Whizzer White, the football star, will sit on the Colorado U. bench during the cage tourney in the Garden this week. ...Chris Dundee, one of the best fight managers in the business, has five boys going tonight—Nick Camarata in New Orleans; Jimmy Webb in Pittsburgh; Frankie Cavana in Lancaster, Pa.; Phil Furr in Washington, and Tony Cisco in Philly.

We'll Say
The Dartmouth Student Daily reports an injured skier was slightly unconscious. ...Nothing like a college education, boys.

Success Tip
For every hour Carl Snavely spends coaching his Cornell football players, he spends six hours coaching the coaches.

Clermonts, Hudson Meet Wednesday

The Clermonts and the Hudson Elks will meet Wednesday at the Kingston municipal auditorium in a scheduled Hudson valley basketball game. Starting time is 9 o'clock.

The undefeated Clermont team will face a strong squad in the Elks and the meeting should result in some fast basketball. The Book brothers, Andy Murphy, Hank Krum and Al Bruce will be in the Clermont lineup.

The Trojans and the Wilkewitz Stars will play in the preliminary, which is scheduled to start at 7 o'clock.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Sarasota, Fla.—Officials of the Boston Red Sox were relieved today to find that an injury suffered by Rookie Dominic DiMaggio in yesterday's exhibition with the Cincinnati Reds was nothing worse than a sprain. At first it had been feared a small bone in his ankle might have been broken sliding into home plate. Before the accident DiMaggio had lived up to his heralded reputation with two singles and a spectacular fielding play.

Pasadena, Calif.—Defying the recollections of some observers of last year's campaign, Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox is enthused about the outfield play of Taft Wright. He declares Wright is a better fielder, thrower and hitter than Gerald Walker, who went to the Washington Senators in exchange.

Fort Myers, Fla.—Manager Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland Indians is keeping his fingers crossed on Johnny Humphries, a promising pitcher who was too wild for the Tribe last year. In three innings of a regular-yannigan game yesterday Humphries was impressive and didn't give a single base on balls. Catcher Rollie Hemley bruised his leg in a baseline collision and may be out of action for a couple of days.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—After giving some of the rookies a trial, Manager Ray Blades planned to start his veterans today in the St. Louis Cardinals exhibition against the New York Giants. Bob Weiland, Mort Cooper and Clyde Shuler were summoned for mound duty. The Giants made their debut yesterday and were noosed out by Washington although Manager Bill Terry used 20 men.

Miami Beach, Fla.—Morrie Aronovich, one of the National League's leading hitters last season, is starting off fast again this spring. He socked a homer, double and single and drove in three runs in an intra-camp struggle.

Clearwater, Fla.—The Brooklyn Dodgers are hard on shortstops. Young Peeewe Reese, being groomed as an eventual successor to Manager Leo Durocher, suffered a split palm yesterday in fielding a hot smash by Barney McCosky in an exhibition game with the Detroit Tigers. He'll be out of action for 10 days. The injury was almost identical with one sustained by Durocher two years ago. Last year's rookie shortstop sensation, Pete Reiser, also was hurt after being sent to the Dodgers' Elmira farm and has never regained his previous form.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Ever since he reported to the New York Yankees' training camp Lefty Le Grissom has been planning on how he would show up his old teammates on the Cincinnati Reds when the clubs met in an exhibition series. But today Manager Joe McCarthy announced the three pitchers he intends to use against the Reds tomorrow and Grissom wasn't one of them. Monte Pearson, Bump Hadley and Steve Sundra were McCarthy's choices.

They were revealed by the director of munitions production to the ministry of supply.

Up and down the country manufacturers of every description are turning available machinery to the manufacture of arms without interfering more than is necessary with their own trade. The manufacture of war materials and munitions have been spread out in this way over the entire country so that the after-war industry will not be crippled.

This is part of a vast pre-war scheme. In many cases the manufacturers are turning out arms far ahead of schedule.

The director also stated that British arms makers have improved on a German machine which could turn out a shell in 45 minutes.

Texas Lunch Five Junior Champions

The Texas Lunch Five is the Junior City League Basketball champions as the result of the Forsyth's win over the Gems. The latter was tied with the Texas quintet.

The Texas squad is the only team in the league's three-year history to make a clean sweep of both halves.

In the Forsyth's 25 to 23 win over the Gems, Bloom for the winners led the scoring with 12 points.

The score: Forsyth's (25)—Bloom, f., 12; Morton, f., 4; Bazick, c., 8; Mason, g., 1; Sussin, g., 0.

Gems (23)—King, f., 9; Sweeney, f., 6; Conner, c., 0; Silverman, g., 6; Bernato, g., 0.

Chicago—Michigan gains seventh consecutive Big Ten indoor track title as Indiana places second.

Columbus, O.—Michigan Wolverines win Big Ten swimming championship for second straight year with Ohio State second.

Kansas City—Nebraska noses Missouri's defending champions 33½-32½ for Big Six track crown.

State College, Pa.—Penn State surprises with its fifth Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Association championship as Army and Syracuse deadlock for second.

Syracuse, N. Y.—For 10th time in 13 years Lehigh captures eastern intercollegiate wrestling title.

Lancaster, Pa.—University of Pittsburgh takes Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association championship.

Clinton Mackenzie Dies

New York, March 11 (AP)—Clinton Mackenzie, 69, architect and former member of the race committee of the New York Yacht Club, died yesterday after a heart attack. A native New Yorker, he was a consultant in large-scale industrial developments and was one of the architects who planned Kingsport, Tenn., one of the first model cities.

Speakers and Officers at Breakfast

The Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church held its annual Holy Name breakfast yesterday morning at the Governor Clinton Hotel with over 250 men in attendance. Seated at the speaker's table were: John M. Cashin, toastmaster; Rev. John D. Simmons, president; Charles Davis, marshal; James Lynch, consultant; Paul Phelan, secretary; Joseph Saccoman, vice-president and John Callahan, consultant.

Holy Name Hears Good Example Test Stressed by Judge

are the better Americans we are," said Judge Conger.

Approximately 450 members of the society attended the 8 o'clock Mass and 225 were served breakfast at the hotel. After the invocation by the Rev. John D. Simmons, President Joseph Morgan presented Toastmaster John M. Cashin, corporation counsel of Kingston, who in turn introduced the speakers.

The Rev. John D. Simmons in opening the program, read the names of members who had died since the last breakfast and offered a prayer in their behalf. Those who have died during the past year are: Joseph Lalima, John Birmingham, Leonard O'Hara, William Flanagan and Michael Flynn. Father Simmons also expressed regret that Martin Cashin, father of John M. Cashin, was unable to attend the breakfast as he was ill at the Benedictine Hospital. Mr. Cashin is one of the charter members of the society.

Pastor Speaks

The Rev. John P. McCaffrey, pastor, was then presented. He said that in his opinion the Holy Name Society of any parish was the "back-bone" of the parish and proceeded to tell the group how it might be leaders in a fight to stamp out indecent literature which has been sweeping the country in the form of magazines, periodicals and on the stage as well.

Father McCaffrey told of a campaign which is shortly to be launched by the Catholics of the country to stamp out this indecent writing and speech. The campaign against profanity in talk, on the stage and in print he said, would shortly be started.

Cheap magazines unfit to be read by anyone, he said, were being circulated among the young folks and it was impossible to tell the ill effects which such literature had upon youth. He urged that all Catholics boycott such publications and shun theatricals where indecent language and scenes are portrayed.

Judge Conger was then presented after which Toastmaster Cashin in thanked the committee, officers and visiting members and the session adjourned. Officers are Joseph J. Morgan, president; Joseph Saccoman, vice president; Paul Phelan, secretary. Consultants are William Leehive, Alfred Lynch and Charles Davis.

Judge Conger's Text

"Where I am a preacher, the text most appealing to me would be 'The Power of Good Example.' Throw a stone into a pond. At first you have only ripples, but gradually they widen and widen until they disappear into the far shores. The power and influence of one good man in the community, whether he be humble or powerful is very great; the influence of 150 or 200 good men banded together under the banner of the Holy Name is tremendous. The effect of this public demonstration of faith, consciously or unconsciously will sink into someone's soul."

"I appeal first to those who have children. That boy, for instance, your flesh and blood, on the verge of manhood. The world to him is somewhat of a strange land. He looks to you. His future is in your hands. His moulding is with you. Do we so live each day at home and abroad that our lives are a pattern, an example, a goal for that boy. If we do not, we have failed in our duty, failed in our obligations."

"We have other duties, we owe a duty to the world. A man who lives alone, caring for no one but himself is a selfish man. His going is missed by no one. You are members of a great confraternity, an organization that exists from one end of this great land to the other. An organization that is founded on the pledge of love of God and love of country. Today in this land we have need of such an organization."

"It is part of that great church that has existed from the time of Christ, and will live until the end of time. The church that knows no country, no color. Where the rich, the powerful and the poor and the humble kneel together."

"Today there is need for a militant army, marching on for the right; our country needs it; our country demands it. Never before has our country greater need for us. We sometimes wonder whether we are drifting. Strange beliefs, both of living and government, are being advocated. Many object to law of our land, many are not loyal to our laws and our customs. Irreligion is rampant. Millions have been spent in this state alone to alleviate suffering. Men today are walking the streets jobless who never before knew what it was to be out of work."

"Whatever the solution may be, we must have faith; faith in ourselves, faith in our country and faith in the Almighty."

"Recently in Boston an outstanding Communist said that the Catholic Church in this country was interfering in politics; taking things to itself that belonged to the country. We know that this is not so. We know that such an attack is made because we are strong; because more than anyone else we stand out against Socialism and Communism, and interests that would tear down the traditions of this great land of ours. I say to you that we are not a people apart. There is no hyphen between Americanism and Catholicism."

"Stop for a moment and review our history. We are sons and daughters of those forefathers, those pioneers who came to this country. They came with one idea, seeking liberty, liberty of worship, liberty to work out their final destiny, untrampled by cruel discriminatory laws. . . . Today our people are serving and achieving to the advancement of American ideals, and are glorifying the finest traditions of American life and our Constitution."

Helped Make Band Concert a Success

Kingston High School Band made its first concert appearance Sunday afternoon at the high school and those who helped make it a success were Marian Obenaus, drum majorette, Miss Leona May Smith, cornet soloist, who was the guest artist for the afternoon, Kenneth W. Appleton, bandmaster, and Miss Eleanor Lawatsch, who acted as accompanist for Miss Joan Craig, flute soloist, who was marching with the band when this picture was taken.

Engineers Working at Wawarsing

Wawarsing, March 11.—A small corps of engineers and workers has been busy checking elevations in Wawarsing for the last few days. The workmen are connected with the New York City Water Supply project at Lackawack and are measuring for any variations of surface levels with previous calculations. Any change of elevation, because of varying temperature and other conditions, must be considered in actual work at the site of the new dam. Pictured in above group, from left, John Leonard, Kingston; James Gordon, Hurley; Charles Schwille, Ellenville, and Rene Malnati, Lackawack.

Teetsel Car Was Not Involved

On March 1, The Freeman carried a story regarding injuries suffered by Mrs. D. H. Mowell of St. James street, and Mrs. George B. Van Valkenburgh of Lexington, when they jumped to avoid being struck by a passing car.

The license number of the offending car as given to the police was the number issued to Ernest Teetsell of RFD 1, Saugerties. Mr. Teetsell called later at police headquarters and stated it was not his car involved in the affair.

An investigation made by the police showed that his contention was correct and that it was not the Teetsell car, and that the police had been furnished with the wrong license numbers.

Bi-Party Budget Battle Renewed, Veto Is Promised

$10,000,000 as an "honest" budget balancing device, but his plan, mainly redrafting highway funds, was regarded by Republicans as striking at areas which they represent.

Meanwhile, the Legislature, which hoped for adjournment March 29 despite the new budget troubles, was asked to create a commission to study and recommend methods of reorganizing administrative systems of towns, villages and counties in an effort to "place them on a sound and business-like basis."

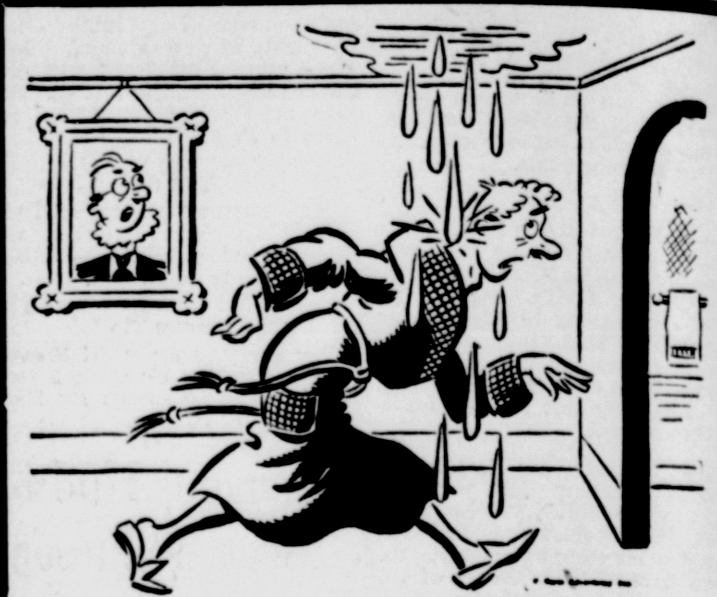

Assemblyman Robert F. Wagner, Jr., Manhattan Democrat and son of the United States senator, proposed the study for elimination of "obsolete" offices and as an answer to taxpayers' demands for reducing the tax burden.

Few changes will mark the agricultural conservation program for 1940 in New York state, according to Don J. Wickham, head field officer.
